HELPS FARM VALUES

GOOD ROADS INCREASE SELLING VALUE OF RURAL PROPERTY.

LARGE AND SURE RETURNS

Improvement of Highways Is Not Matter of Expense, but an Investment—With Good Roads the Farm Will Produce Greater Revenue.

By HOWARD H. GROSS.

There is one very important factor that people are apt to overlook, and that is, the influence of good roads on the value of farm property. There is no fact that is better established or of which there is more abundant proof than that a good hard road leading from the farm to the market will increase the selling value of the farm far more than the amount of taxes required to be paid by the farmer to build the road. Hence when the matter is analyzed, it will be found that the building of good roads is not a matter of expense, but an investment that pays a larger and surer return

Two Mules Drawing One Bale of Cotton Over Bad Road at Jackson, Tenn. This shows the conditions down in the cotton belt, where at times the roads are almost impassable. The farm and driver are in a predicament until the road is improved. The next picture shows the same road a mile nearer town, after it has been improved.

than anything else one can name. A progressive farmer will expend money on building good fences, tile his land, erect wind mills, barns, sheds, covers for his machinery, plant trees, and do many things to make his farm more attractive, more useful and more valuable. When a man has spent several hundred dollars on some of these improvements he figures his farm is worth more than the amount expended over what it was before. He is willing to expend money inside of his boundary fences, but when asked to go out beyond this to the public highway he is apt to feel that the amount of money spent is an expense that yields him no direct return. In fact, in no community, so far as the writer can ascertain, after a world wide study extending over 20 years, was the building of hard roads begun without the strongest opposition from those who were really to receive the largest benefit. Dire predictions were made that the property would be confiscated by the taxation, that the building of the roads would ruin the tax payer. But every community that has had the experience of building hard roads, using good roads, unable every day in the year, so the farmers can take advantage of market conditions, are worth two or three cents on every bushel of grain, and ten to thirty cents a hundred on cattle and hogs. Hence, with good roads the farm will produce a larger revenue. It is a more desirable place to live and it is worth more money.

If one were to go out to buy a farm, and when he alighted at the railway station, was met by the real estate agent, who told him he had two farms practically alike, one four miles east on a good macadam road, and the other four miles west, on a dirt road, the chances are ten to one that the buyer would prefer the farm upon the good road and willingly pay more money to get it. One of the first things the owner would say if he cared to sell, would be that he could go to town any day in the year and haul a good load, while a farmer eight miles west of him at times would not be able to turn a wheel.

One county in Kentucky spent over $200,000 upon the highways. The record is that former values nearly doubled. The same is true of Texas. It is also true of Indiana, and true wherever good roads are built. Distance is measured by the time it takes to go from place to place. Ask how far it is to a given point, and you are told it is about five minutes' walk, or to another inquiry, "It takes

Two Horses Drawing Eleven Bales of Cotton Over Road Shown in Other Picture, After Improvement. This is a road splendidly constructed built by a county bond issue. Before the roads were built there was little or no sale for farms, afterwards they were in demand at an advance of from 20 to 50 per cent, all on account of the good roads.

an hour by rail." Distance is measured by the clock's tick, and not by the yard stick. A hard-headed German farmer at Sheboygan, in a very graphic and comprehensive way, told of the value of good roads as it appeared to him. He said: "My farm is ten miles from market. If it was only five miles from market it would be worth $15 an acre more. I cannot move my farm in, but if we can build a good road to my farm I can come in the ten miles with my produce easier than I could come in five miles with bad roads. Therefore to build a good road moves my farm in half way to town."

The writer has traveled in many states and foreign countries and studied the road problem. In every locality where good roads have been built the people are enthusiastic; they say they do not see how they ever could have gotten along so many years without them, for they have better schools, more social advantages, that the people live better, dress better, and the people in town are strongly attracted to rural life; that where there was an opportunity to sell a farm once with the bad roads, there were several opportunities with the good ones. If any state or community will take up the building of good roads upon the right basis, and spread the payments over a series of years, they will find it is the best investment they could possibly make. More than one-half the states now are assisting the townships to build good roads, by paying anywhere from one-third to three-fourths the cost. To aid road building the state of New York issued $50,000,000 of bonds, and will spend $5,000,000 per year for ten years upon the highways, assisting the counties and the states in permanently improving the main thoroughfares. This is a step in the right direction. Scores of states are doing the same thing in a somewhat smaller way. In some states the counties are taking up the proposition, voting county bonds for this purpose. Wayne county, Michigan, last

"Cardui Cured Me"

For nearly ten years, at different times, Mrs. Mary Jim's of Treadway, Tenn., suffered with womanly troubles. She says: "At last, I took down and thought I would die. I could not sleep. I couldn't eat. I had pains all over. The doctors gave me up. I read that Cardui had helped so many, and I began to take it, and it cured me. Cardui saved my life! Now, I can do anything."

TAKE THE CARDUI Woman's Tonic

If you are weak, tired, worn-out, or suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, dragging-down feelings, pains in arm, side, hip or limbs, and other symptoms of womanly trouble, you should try Cardui, the woman's tonic. Prepared from perfectly harmless, vegetable ingredients, Cardui is the best remedy for you to use, as it can do you nothing but good. It contains no dangerous drugs. It has no bad after-effects. Ask your druggist. He sells and recommends Cardui.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1912.

Entered at the Greenville, Ky., postoffice as second-class matter.

Up to January 1st, the grand total of canal excavation at Panama was 158,092,940 cubic yards, leaving to be excavated 37,739,439 cubic yards, or about one-fifth of the entire amount for the completed canal.

One way to meet the high cost of living is by the reduction of about 20 per cent. in the consumption of coffee due to the prices that have prevailed for some time. Part of it, according to a coffee roaster, is due to the fact that with the higher wholesale price the retailer makes less, and is not nearly so eager as he was a year ago to coax and tempt people by various means to buy coffee. Of course, the business of making and selling coffee substitutes has been stimulated. The coffee roaster who has been discussing the reduced consumption says that when the price was very low, say a year and a half ago or earlier, coffee was peddled from house to house, and stamps and premiums and coupons led to the use of a great deal of coffee. It is said that he has to have other wares. High prices invariably check consumption, whether of coffee or steel.

In recent issue of the Record, the first week of January the gas companies received 7,000 calls per day to thaw out frozen pipes. This kept 600 trained men at work. In the meantime electric service, so far from being hampered by the cold, actually operated to better advantage owing to the better insulation afforded. Those who had depended on gas for cooking purposes found that it was necessary for them to make use of their electrically heated utensils, one man using an electric flatiron as an emergency stove for cooking eggs. This he did by inverting the flat iron and using its polished under surface for a stove top. Another resourceful individual used his flat iron to thaw out a frozen radiator, while still another householder, in order to make his radiator more efficient and stir up the stagnant air in the room, used an electric fan on the floor to direct a stream of air against the radiator pipes. He found that by this simple method the temperature of the room was raised 25 degrees in half an hour.

Hardening of the Muscles.

This is fortunately a very rare disease, although it is better known to the general public than many other more common afflictions. Being so rare and also so striking in its manifestations, its wretched subjects, having no other means of livelihood, often lend themselves to exhibition in museums as "ossified men." That is what they are literally, for their muscles are largely converted into bone.

In one of the earliest known cases of the disease, the sufferer became so rigid during his long martyrdom of forty-four years that for some time before his death the only joints in his entire body that he could move were the knees and one wrist. He was wholly unable to change his position in the bed, and had to be moved about like an iron bar or a log.

The disease affects men more often than women in the ratio of about three to one. It begins usually in childhood, or even infancy, and progresses steadily, or with only slight remission, for years. As a rule, the first indication of its onset is a localized swelling in the muscles of the neck or back, hard and more or less painful on pressure. This is usually thought to be due to a strain or to some forgotten injury, and in a few days it subsides, leaving a hard lump in the substance of the muscle.

Similar attacks recur from time to time, and the theory of injury being plainly untenable, are, for want of a better name called, chronic muscular rheumatism. In the course of years the painful swellings appear in other parts of the body, and the hard lumps, which are bony formations, extend, and gradually join with the bones of the skeleton, limiting or preventing movement in the neighboring joints.

As the disease goes on, one after another of the joints stiffens, the head becomes immovable, the back is rigid, the jaw is fixed so that the chewing of food is impossible, the arms and legs are held as in a vice. Almost the only muscles not affected are those of the face.

The disease is not fatal in itself, and its victims often live to an advanced age, and die of pneumonia, consumption, or some other intercurrent disease. There is as yet no known cure, but the malady is evidently one of nutrition, and when the physicians learn how to modify the nutritive changes in the body, as they are now learning, they will doubtless be able, not to cure, but to prevent ossification of the muscles.

Sparks From the Fire Waste.

The fire waste of the country is excessive and is sapping its prosperity. Reduction of the fire waste is an important part of the campaign for the conservation of the national resources.

Fire losses in the United States and Canada in 1911 were $234,337,259, most of them due to carelessness.

Fire losses in January of 1912 were a million dollars a day, 50 per cent more than for the same month last year.

Fire losses and the cost of fire prevention in the United States amount annually to $450,000,000, or more than the total American production of gold, silver, copper and petroleum in a year.

The cost of fires each year is one-half the cost of all the new buildings erected in a year.

The annual per capita fire waste in the United States is $2.51, in Europe 33¢. Cause: The latter has better construction, less carelessness, increased responsibility.

If buildings in the United States were as fire proof as in Europe, the annual cost of fire losses and protection would be only $90,000,000.

New York city spends $10,000,000 a year for fire extinguishment and $15,000,000 a year for fire prevention.

Of 4,244 known causes of fire in Chicago last year, 1,121 were due to the careless use of matches. Nearly ten thousand matches are scratched every second of the day in this country, every one a possible fire.

Over five thousand are killed and 50,000 are injured annually as a result of fire.

The proportion of insurance capital to insurance liabilities is very much on the decrease. In the past forty years the liabilities have almost doubled, while only $5,000,000 more capital was invested in the business in 1911 than in 1870.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and not lie. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts. He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

THE EXILE.
(John Warren Harper in Scribner's.)

I am down in Arizona,
On its cañons covered plains.
The white plague on my hollow cheeks,
The fever in my veins.
I am down upon the desert,
'Tis a God-forsaken land,
Where you live out in the open,
Among the sage brush and mesquite,
With a rattler for a neighbor.
Not the friendliest to meet.
Where you find yourself upon a bank
To rest your weary head.
And you shake the blooming scorpions
From the covers of your bed.

They say this country, way down here,
Is full of precious gold,
Its mountains filled with silver,
And with countless wealth untold.
But I know another country,
And my heart with longing fills.
Where the gold is in the sunset
Upon its purple hills.
Where the silver is in a brooklet,
And it's set with emerald, too.
As it flashes in the sunlight
Of the meadow, stealing thru.
A country—God's own country.
And my own to sacrifice,
Some call it fair New England,
But I call it—Paradise.

Oh, I look out o'er the sagebrush,
As I stretch my yearning hands
O'er the long, unbroken reaches,
Of the desert's burning sands.
To a land where brooks are honest,
When your lips are parched and dry.
Not the cañon's clear, deceptive streams
Of the tasteless alkali.
New England has no mountains
Full of wealth and mines and hills,
But I'd give this whole damned country
For one sight of its green hills.

I am down in Arizona
And I'm told I've got to stay
Till the Angel Gabriel blows his trumpet
Out on the Judgment Day.
I've been here three years already,
And the white plague's held in check,
And my bronco and the pale horse
Are going neck by neck.
But, oh God! for old New England,
As the lonely years go by;
Let the pale horse beat my bronco,
Take me home—and let me die.

Wedding Last Thursday.
At the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Christian at 2:30 o'clock last Thursday afternoon their attractive daughter, Lillian Blanche, was married to Mr. John W. North, the ceremony being performed by Dr. W. K. Henderson, in the presence of quite an assemblage of relatives and friends. The couple left on an afternoon train for a trip of some weeks through the South, and will return to their home in Elizabethtown, where the groom is a prominent business man. Both have the best wishes of friends here and at their new home.

Corn is quoted at 80 cents per bushel, delivered, and there is not much to be had from our farmers at that price.

These zero spells are frequent and crimping. If they were continued for a time, all would be well, but by the time one gets accustomed to the cold, it moderates, and then jumps back again. Hard to follow such a thing.

In the Sunday School Basket Ball League the Presbyterians defeated the Methodists last week. Score 19 to 15. The standing is as follows:

| | Won | Lost | Pr. Ct. |
|-------|-----|------|---------|
| Pres. | 2 | 0 | 1000 |
| Bap. | 2 | 1 | 500 |
| Meth. | 0 | 2 | 000 |

The public is invited to see these games. There is no charge. They begin at 8 o'clock p. m.

The Greenville Basket Ball team lost a hard fought game to the Henderson team Saturday night. Up till five minutes of the close of the game the Greenville boys were ahead, but their opponents rallied and won the victory. This was the largest and heaviest team the Greenville boys have ever met, and met them with one center out of the game on account of sickness. The boys played a creditable game and deserve credit for holding the score so close as 25 to 21. With the regular team it is believed that our boys will defeat them when they go to play on the 10th. of this month.

Last Friday was groundhog day, and it was bright and fair, giving his hogship all sorts of opportunity to see and get scared at his shadow, and the weather since indicates that he has gone back in his hole for six weeks of foul weather.

Our basket ball team had its first defeat at home last Saturday night, when Henderson boys in a score of 25 to 21 won the game before a large crowd of spectators. The visitors were all lousy fellows, played the game fast and outclassed our boys all along the line, and their showing was remarkable, all things considered.

Back to the Individual.
There is a split in the Arden, N. J., colony of land communists. The seceders are leaving one "fellowship farm" to organize another under the slogan of "back to the soil."

Thus in the end go all these community attempts to make overhuman nature. The nineteen communistic societies established in the United States by the Robert Owen agitation lasted at most a few years. The later 30 Fourieristic communities extended in the most persistent case to only 17 years.

The theory is beautiful but the conditions are cruelly at variance. It is doubtless lamentable that no two human beings have ever been known to be created precisely alike in facial appearance or able to see everything in precisely the same way. But it is a fact which other people have to reckon with, if not Socialists and communists.

The meaning of the Arden secession is not back to the soil, but back to the individual, and to individualism in industry, as well as in the disposition of leisure where even the Socialists are compelled to yield.

"Town farmers" are about the busiest of our citizens just now, as they are contracting for rentals of land on which to raise corn, peas and such crops. There will be many acres of land in cultivation near town this year that have not been touched in years.

There have been many thousands of rabbits killed in the county this winter, but the supply is not appreciably diminished, according to hunters. Rabbits are said to be constantly on the increase, it is said, but birds of all kinds have suffered from the onslaughts of the boy with the gun. Some farmers are wise enough that they forbid the boys killing the birds, as they recognize the great worth of the birds as destroyers of insects, eggs, germs and the like, protecting fruits, vegetables, trees and plant life generally.

Rev. G. W. Belk, who was recently elected Presbyterian Evangelist by the Presbytery of Muhlenberg, will preach in the First Presbyterian church next Sunday morning and night. The night service will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Belk has been serving as the Evangelist of Albemarle Presbytery in North Carolina.

The addition of vaudeville features at the moving picture show is increasing the attendance, and manager Bailey proposes to provide the best talent as well as the latest pictures.

Iowa "Hornets" Wish to Meet Old

Recs.

The ninth reunion of the "Iowa Hornets' Nest Brigade" will be held on the battle field of Shiloh at Pittsburg Landing, Tenn. April 6 and 7, 1912. We extend to the Courier-Journal a cordial invitation to meet with us on that occasion. And we extend a most cordial invitation to all the old Confederate veterans who fought so gallantly and heroically on Shiloh's bloody field a half century ago. We want all the survivors of that battle, and especially those who were engaged in those terrific assaults on the "Hornets' Nest."

We want you to come and bring your families and we will give you the warmest reception we know how to give to make your visit pleasant. Would the Courier Journal please have your southern exchanges as far as possible to publish this invitation?

Yours respectfully,

J. H. CARMAN,
Secy. Seventh Iowa Infantry.

FOR A LONG LIFE

Those Interested, Please Read

Fresh air and exercise, with proper food and a sufficient amount of sleep, are the essentials.

Under such a regime of living, germs cannot develop, and many diseases are prevented.

Should the system require a tonic, take only such as you know their ingredients—such as Vinol, which is a delicious combination of the health-giving properties of the cods' livers with all the useless grease eliminated and tonic from added, happily blended in a mild, medicinal wine.

For this reason Vinol is regarded as one of the greatest body builders and invigorators for aged people. It invigorates and builds them up, and keeps them up.

We sell Vinol with the understanding that if it does not give satisfaction the price will be returned.

SANITARY BARN FOR SHEEP

Read Not Be Built for Warmth, but Must Be Dry and Well Ventilated—Drafts Are Fatal.

Sheep barns are not as expensive as those for cattle, horses, or hogs for the simple reason that they need not be built for warmth. Let them be dry and well ventilated and the stock will thrive in the coldest of winter weather. That dampness is fatal was simply demonstrated on a farm near Madison, Wis. The owner telephoned to the university that his sheep were dying, and that an expert should be sent out to determine the cause. The instructor and rooper stepped into the barn and not his shoes filled with water than he jumped back and said, "I know already. Water."

The barn had been built against a ridge and no attention paid to the drainage. As a result, the heavy thawing of spring caused the moisture to just seep through one of the foundation walls in streams, covering the floor four inches deep. Pneumonia then wiped out the flock in a very short time.

Sheep barns should not be built on low or marshy tracts, but on high elevated ground so that the water may drain away. They should be set in such a manner as to form a windbreak against the prevailing cold winds from the northwest. A yard should always be connected with this windbreak, as sheep should be driven out of doors every time the weather permits.

The ventilation must be perfect. The King system is probably the most convenient yet devised, although many of the home-made devices are good. There is just this about the King system: it takes some men a little time before they are able to grasp its principles and get it to working successfully. Windows are needed for proper lighting, as sheep will not thrive in the dark any more than any other animal. In fact, will not thrive under lighting conditions found tolerable by cattle. Again, windows are excellent as part of the ventilating system if care is taken not to open them in such a manner that a draft is formed on windy days. Drafts are fatal to sheep.

FEED BAGS FOR THE HORSE

Feeding is Easily Operated by Animal While Eating.

When the feed in the ordinary feed bag gets too low for the horse to reach easily, he either throws his head up or sets the bag on the ground to get the grain, says a writer in the Popular Mechanics. In either case, much of the feed is wasted. The illustration shows a feed-bag holder on the principle of a rein, which quickly adjusts the level of the grain to the mouth of the horse by a slight movement of his head downward. The sketch fully illustrates the construction of the head-gear and the rein connection.

Feed Bag Hung on a Rein.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

A good man's horse will not understand when he is sworn at.

Growing pigs should receive, where it is possible, some buttermilk.

Keep the young pigs out of the drafts. Give them a clean, dry place to sleep.

In feeding farm stock variety is necessary, for this will keep the appetites keen.

Sheep need plenty of fresh air, and they certainly are more warmly clad than we are.

All animals need plenty of exercise in the winter to keep them in condition for the spring.

The horses should be hitched up occasionally and put to some work, if only for an hour or two.

Although hogs are proverbially dirty animals, they enjoy clean drinking water as much as the other stock.

Middings is a very good feed for swine, but it should not form the entire grain portion of their ration.

Just because a hog seems filthy, is no sign that he likes to drink water from a dirty, germ-infected trough.

Lack of attention to the teeth of the horses often cause large holes to appear in the oat bin without visible reason.

Plenty of bedding for the horse and the cow is as sure of a good return as any other labor performed on the farm.

Give the colt plenty of exercise during the cold weather, and it will repay you for your kindness by steady growth.

Choice beehives are extraordinarily high and bid fair to reach record figures the coming winter and spring months.

In yarding sheep, don't forget a constant supply of good fresh water and rock salt are a necessity; also, plenty of good fresh bedding, and always a dry lair.

"Dr. Miles' Nervine Raised Me From the Grave"—Mrs. Taylor

This is a strong statement to make, but it is exactly what Mrs. Thomas Taylor, of Blum, Texas, said in expressing her opinion of this remedy.

"Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine raised me from the grave and I have much confidence in it. I can never say enough for your grand medicines. If any one had offered me $1000 for the second bottle of Nervine that I used I would have said 'wondered.'"

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve sickness—nothing else. It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop to the creation of that now very popular Stomach Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that across and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. With out that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had. For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, flatulence and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheer-
